

Hi Sarah!

Very nice job on coding what you have designed/outlined from last week! I really like the first page; it's very engaging! I also really like the pictures that you chose for the events because I think they represent the themes well. Just a few notes:

1. I am pretty sure you are still just working on your Cast and Production pages so just a reminder for you to continue that and have it posted! If you have any questions, please email me! Also, remember to look at my first feedback notes to get an idea of what to change from your mockup!
2. Just for exploration, I think it would be cool if you could add a play button next to each event and add the representational song for each event. For example, as event #3 is a very happy scene, I think "Un Poco Loco" would work well with it. Although I told you to specifically make "Remember Me" as the key song throughout the website, I think it would be a good idea to have a small play bar next to each event to just convey the presence of music in the film once again. Just try it out and check if that addition makes the website too busy.

Other than these, I think it looks amazing! All the buttons and the responsiveness work well! If you would like me to look over once again once you're done with "Cast" and "Production" page, please let me know!
